

Dear [REDACTED]

I am writing to respond to your request sent on the 2nd July 2016. OUH can confirm that it holds the data that you requested.

1. The number of times the hospital(s)/organisation has faced a ransomware attack, including attacks that were ultimately unsuccessful, since January 2012 to the date of this request. By ultimately unsuccessful, I mean that an email containing ransomware could have been sent to the department, but it did not lead to an infection of the target computer. Please break down this data annually.

No successful attacks. Unable to provide data on unsuccessful attacks as they have successfully been stopped by our defence systems.

2. The number of times the hospital(s)/organisation has successfully been infected with ransomware since January 2012 to the date of this request.

None

3. The number of times the hospital(s)/organisation paid the attackers since January 2012 to the date of this request.

None

4. The amount of money the hospital(s)/organisation has paid attackers since January 2012 to the date of this request. Please break down how much was paid annually.

None

5. Any emails sent or received by the hospital(s)/organisation discussing ransomware attacks.

Only general advice to users.

6. Any internal reports generated in preparation of, or as a result of, a ransomware attack from January 2012 to the date of this request.

None

Please note that on 1 November 2011 the Oxford Radcliffe Hospitals NHS Trust (ORH) merged with the Nuffield Orthopaedic Hospital NHS Trust (NOC) to form the Oxford University Hospitals NHS Trust (OUH). Our response reflects these changes. Therefore, we consider that Oxford University Hospitals Trust has released to you all of the information that it holds in relation to your request.

Provision of this information does not constitute permission for its commercial re-use in terms of the Re-Use of Public Sector Information Regulations 2005. You are free to use the information for your own use, including for non-commercial research purposes. The information may also be used for the purposes of news reporting. However, any other type of re-use will require permission from the Oxford University Hospitals NHS Trust.

Yours sincerely,
