Haematology Nurses' Newsletter

Welcome to the first edition of our newsletter!

We would like to take this opportunity to introduce ourselves and tell you a bit about what we do, what we can offer and how to contact us.

We will also include information and links to other support groups / associations you may find helpful at this time.

We will be developing quarterly newsletters, hopefully with the help of your own feedback, to provide you and your family with the information that will be most helpful.

Since this is our first newsletter we have added our photos, so you can familiarise yourself with our team and what our job roles are.

What do we do?

Nurse Practitioners, sometimes referred to as 'Clinical Nurse Specialists', are able to offer increased levels of support, advice and guidance to patients with cancer.

We work closely with hospital nurses, doctors and other healthcare professionals to maximise the independence, dignity and quality of life of people suffering from cancer.

We also liaise closely with community carers and family doctors (GPs) to ensure the highest quality of care at home.

All patients with cancer should have access to a Nurse Practitioner. If you are not sure if you do, please ask your doctor.

Contact us

We will give you contact details for your Nurse Practitioner, who can be contacted by telephone.

For more information please contact Rosanna on 01865 235 284.
