Contraception and Pregnancy

Information for patients

Colorectal Nursing Department

This leaflet provides information on sex, contraception and pregnancy for patients who have had stoma surgery.

Sex & Contraception

After surgery, you can resume your usual form of contraception, although you may not feel like any sexual activity straight away. It is a time of adjustment - a new body image to come to terms with and feelings of tiredness are all common. You are also likely to be feeling generally rather sore in your abdomen.

If you take the oral contraceptive pill it is important to be aware of the necessity to keep mobile, as after surgery, you are generally slower for a few weeks, so there is a greater risk of developing blood clots.

It is also vital that you pay close attention to the consistency of your output and be aware of foods that may upset your digestive system. Loose stools may lead to the oral contraceptive pill or morning after pill not being absorbed effectively. If you are concerned please take extra precautions. Other forms of contraception are effective, condoms, the injection and implant providing they are in date.

If you have a coil fitted, it is important that you discuss this fully with your GP or family planning nurse, as there could be an increased risk of infection.

Pregnancy

There is no reason why you should not have a family if you have a stoma. It is a good idea to wait until you are physically recovered from the surgery and feel able to cope with the demands that a pregnancy/new baby inevitably brings. It is difficult to stipulate how long this recovery takes as some people recover more quickly than others do. You will probably know when the time is right for you.

For ostomists who are already pregnant, it is important to anticipate that the stoma will increase in size as your “bump” swells, so from about four months, make sure that you re-measure your stoma regularly. If you are unsure about this, then your stoma nurse will help you.
